It is the general opinion that the personal property tax will be larger this year than it was last year, as the returns will be made in so much better shape. There was an increase last year of nearly $1,000,000 in this department, and the chances are that a half million more may be added this year. The personal property of the city is not yet returned at within three million dollars of its real value. Under the admirable law drafted by Captain English it may be expected to go up steadily year by year.

Altogether, the chances are that Mayor alhoun and his council may count very reliably on having as large an income for the present year as was collected last year. It is the general opinion that the personal he present year as was collected last year. Vith this they can be able to make out

The Southern Passenger Agents.

The association of southern passenger agents, organized at the Markham house in November last; adjourned to meet on the 27th of the present month.

The convention is to be held at the Kimball house in the breakfast room of that hotel and will be presided over by Mr. H. W. Draine, of the Macon and Brunswick railroad, who is the president of the organization. Mr. W. L. Dandey, of the Nashville, Chattanoega and St. Louis railroad, is the scretary. The meeting will be called to order by the president at 10 o'clock, and the session will probably last several days, as we understand that quite a large amount of very important business will be blought before the body.

The Southern Passenger Agents.

The association of southern passenger agents, organized at the Markham house in November 1 at the Kimball yesterday we observed plenty of delicious tomatoes as fresh as though that delicacy had just been pulled from a garden near at hand. We understand that from now on this delicious wegetable will be served daily.

—Rev. Dr. Spalding says: "I had the pleasure of hearing Mr. B. F. Jacobs deliver an address in Chicago, a year or two since, and have rarely ever heard a more thrilling speech or one that more deeply moved and impressed the audience."

—We have "been requested to announce that the raffle of the gold watch for the benefit of the brass band now being organized at Pio None college, took place on Thursday, the 20th instant, and that Mrs. Park, of Macon, purchaser of ticket No. 346, was the large from Agentatas, and thereby combelling for Macontas, and thereby combelling them to do, by calling for Macontas, and thereby combelling them to do, by calling for Macontas, and thereby combelling them to do, by calling for Macontas, and thereby combelling them to delicious tomatoes as fresh as though that feelicaus tomatoes as fresh as though that from now on this delicaus we have the cheapest."

5. A small refreshment, commonly called collation, is allowed in the evening.
6. The quality of food allowed at the collation is milk, eggs, butter, cheese, all kinds of fruits, salads, vegetables and fish.
7. Eggs and milk are allowed by dispensation on fasting days, and during lent.
8. To those who fast, custom allows in the morning a cup of coffee, or tea, or chocolate, and a small portion of bread.
9. Necessity and custom have authorized the use of hog's lard instead of butter for cooking.

"In glad you've come among us, brother Davis," said one of the old gentlemen, politely.

"Thankee," replied his reverence, affably, "It is a pretty good layout, I reckon."

The old man gasped, but managed to say that he hoped the church would prosper under his ministrations.

"Well," responded the clergyman, with cheerful confidence. "I'll give the boys a rattle, and do what I can to drive in a few

The Swedish Quartette.

All the good things that have been said of the Swedish lady quartette were justified by the concert they gave last night at the opera house. They sing without notes or accompaniements of any sort, and their symphony is so perfect as to elicit the admiration of every one who hears it. Their voices are so clear and well trained as to be distinctly heard individually in various parts of the quartettes. Nearly all their parts of the quartettes. Nearly all their songs are in the Swedish language, and it is very harmonious. They sang "Baby Mine" and received a hearty encore. Later in the programme they brought the tender feelings of the audience out by singing "Old Folks at Home."

In response to an encore they sang the "Sweet Bye and Bye." Their songs are all delightful to hear. Professor Freygang's harp solos were artistic and remarkable for their delicacy of touch. The entertainment kept the best musical critics in the audience pleased all the while. The quartette will give a marinee at 2½ o'clock this afternoon and another performance to-night.
